The CEO Water Mandate

CEO Water Mandate Fourth Working Conference

Afternoon of August 17th and Morning of 18th
Invitation-only Meeting

Workshop Context and Objectives/Outcomes

As agreed by endorsers and the Mandate Secretariat at the initiative's Istanbul meeting (March 2009), an effort will be made toward aligning or supporting Working Conferences with initiative focus areas/workstreams. Consequently, the Mandate's 4th Working Conference in Stockholm August 2009 will focus entirely on discussing, shaping and advancing the work of the initiative's three current areas/workstreams of focus:

- Water policy engagement
- Water disclosure
- Water and human rights

Specifically, the multi-stakeholder dialogue will seek to build on prior discussions (held in Istanbul and at preceding Mandate events) relating to these three focus areas/workstreams. The specific focus/output of each workstream and planned discussions in Stockholm are described in Appendix A.

The purposes of the August 2009 invitation-only meeting itself are to:

- Discuss key issues relating to each focus area and identify common interests among companies, governments, civil society groups and local communities regarding how companies (and the CEO Water Mandate) can address them;
- Gain feedback from Mandate endorsers and key stakeholders on the scope, objectives, and approach for outputs in the three focus areas; and
- Explore options for increased participation and engagement in the initiative and its workstreams by key stakeholders from the private sector, government, civil society, and other interests.

UNEP-CEO Water Mandate Joint Workshop on Water Accounting Methods and Tools

Location: Congress Center: Room K14
August 16, 2009 – 4:30 PM to 7:00 PM

Public Meeting

Session Description/Objectives:

With support from UNEP, The CEO Water Mandate Secretariat is spearheading the development of a stocktaking exercise that will map the state-of-play with regard to water accounting methodologies and supporting tools. The purpose of this study is to elucidate commonalities and differences among emerging methods and practice, to identify gaps and challenges, and to inform where water accounting methods might benefit from harmonization and increased field testing. In order to facilitate an objective assessment, the research project is emphasizing an iterative and inclusive data collection and analytical process, whereby key stakeholders (i.e., Water Footprint Network, LCA practitioners, academia, civil society groups, and companies that have pilot tested water accounting methods) will be proactively engaged throughout the project. The goal of this UNEP-Mandate workshop is to convene interested stakeholders to discuss key issues and a preliminary research framework, so as to inform the main body of project research. The final analysis will be published as a CEO Water Mandate-UNEP report in December 2009.

4:30 PM Welcoming Remarks, brief description of UNEP-CEO Water Mandate collaboration and general rationale, context, and objectives for the water accounting stocktaking work.

- Guido Sonnemann, Program Officer for Innovation and Life Cycle Management, Sustainable Consumption and Production Branch, UNEP
- Jason Morrison, Program Director, Pacific Institute

5:00 PM Review of and Facilitated Discussion on Key Conceptual and Practical Issues in the Emerging Field of Water Accounting

Each set of prepared remarks followed by 15-20 minutes of facilitated, structured discussion where all meeting participants have an opportunity to provide input on the topic at hand.

The CEO Water Mandate

Appendix A: Mandate workstreams and related discussions in Stockholm

Water Policy Engagement (To be covered Monday afternoon)

The Mandate has embarked on the development of a Guide that will help inform and improve companies' public policy engagements. Among other things, the comprehensive framework will define the "contours and fence lines" for corporate engagement in water policy, map salient water-policy issues/spheres and recommend a series of "dos and don'ts" for successful policy engagement. The discussion in Stockholm will center on a draft annotated outline of the Guide, with the aim of identifying the Guide's scope and key substantive elements.

Water, Business, and Human Rights (To be covered Monday afternoon)

The discussion in Stockholm will focus on work proposals put forward by the Mandate's Working Group on Water and Human Rights. In particular, participants will:

- Explore whether the CEO Water Mandate should develop a consensus approach/document on how the business sector can respect the human right to water, and if so, what key elements such a approach/document might entail.
- Discuss whether, and if so, how to develop practical guidance (for inclusion in the Policy Engagement Guide described above) regarding how companies can act consistently with the human right to water.

Water Transparency (To be covered Tuesday morning)

The Stockholm discussion will center on better understanding the public's water information needs and interests, as well as how and where the Mandate's water disclosure efforts sit within the broader, rapidly evolving landscape. Both discussions are intended to help steer the Mandate's recent commitments to:

- Develop guidance that will improve and make more consistent qualitative water reporting, with a focus on the Mandate's "process-oriented" elements, such as Watershed Management, Community Engagement, Collective Action, and Public Policy.
- Build methods and guidance to support companies in better understanding materiality and reflecting the sustainability context into their water-related reporting.
