

INTERFAITH CENTER ON CORPORATE
RESPONSIBILITY

ICCR Mission

TOGETHER OUR WORK IS GOOD BUSINESS.

ICCR

- 300 members of communities of faith and associate members
- $100 billion of cumulative portfolio investments from faith members

“Inspired by faith – committed to action for just and sustainable communities – bridging the divide between morality and markets, with ethical, environmental and social values”

ICCR

- Alignment with the UN Human Rights Council – Special Rapporteur on access to safe drinking water and sanitation and
- UN Special Representative on business and human rights

Sustainable Water Use: A Continuum of engagement

- Acknowledge the importance of the human right to safe drinking water and sanitation and sustainable water use
- Adopt policies and implement
- Clear metrics for measuring progress and reporting
- Company has positive impact independently verified, acknowledged by faith investors

Good practices

- Report data on water for operations and supply chain particularly water stressed or scarce areas
- Follow GRI protocols for reporting disaggregated data
- Return water to the watershed from which it was abstracted

Good practices

- Adopt a policy that recognizes the human right to water and sanitation
- Prepare human rights impact assessment(s)

Good practices

- Publically state goals for water efficiency and use and disclose performance data
- Implement water management strategy for pollution prevention throughout the value chain and report

Good practices

- Report in context of local climate, ecology, human population, economy – with clear definition of “local” water resources

Thank you!

ICCR staff and members for human rights and water:

- David Schilling (dschilling@iccr.org)
- Nadira Narine (nnarine@iccr.org)
- Patricia Jones (pjones@uusc.org)

Resources:

Report – “Liquid Assets: Responsible Investment in Water Services”

www.iccr.org